To whom it may concern;

I have been employed at O.C.C. Garment Factory for five years. I am blessed to have this opportunity before my release date.

First of all I would like to talk about the positive things this job brings me. I can't tell you how much of a boost being able to save money for re-entry back into society. This program has taught me a good work skill which I am able to take with me when I leave. I have learned how to interact with my co-workers, and to use them to problem solve, which will help me no matter where I find employment. And the most important thing I learned is responsibility. For all of these things I am thankful.

These are some of the things that I think need to be addressed: I know its an old system but the P.R.A.S. points that are awarded sometimes don't pay us for some days. Each day we work should increase our pay. Meals are smaller than main line. I pay room+board and should get the same treatment as main-line. And speaking of Room + Board, I know that Child support is ~~payed~~ paid out of room + Board, why then, doesn't court fines also get paid. Just a small percentage would help tremendously.

The last thing I want to discuss is customer satisfaction. We work as hard as we can to make sure we put out the very best quality product as well as meet our deadlines. I feel like we have been forced to put this on hold since we started making masks. I think the customer base we have built over the years should be our number one priority. I also think adding mask making to our pie has made everyone take a pay cut. At the very least masks should be exempt from our pie. Then I don't think moral would be as bad and I would think differently about volunteering for overtime.

Thank You

Farrell
